

From: LPeele@aol.com@inetgw
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 11/30/01 1:17pm
Subject: Operating System Monopoly

It appears that the DOJ "settlement" does nothing to eliminate the stranglehold that Microsoft has on the operating system market. The government should write a spec for th OS that it will purchase and make it available to all competing software developers. The system should also be open source. Microsoft should be prevented from forcing Windows and Windows products on the public. Try to buy soft or hardware for IBM's OS/2 Warp or a computer with that OS installed.

The list of transgressions is extensive and it appears the DOJ has given in.
Ellwood L. Peele